LOCAL & GENERAL NEWS.

HAWAIIAN Government Bonds are quoted in London at 104.

The "quiet girls" have arrived at the Beaver Saloon, go and see them.

See advertisement of the Criterion Saloon in another column in regard to Bock Beer.

Fresh trade winds at Kona, is the report by the steamer Jax. Mahee this morning.

EMPEROR FRANCIS JOSEPH buns will be on sale at the Pioneer Steam Candy factory and bakery to-morrow.

The Kinau will leave for the Volcano on Monday next. To be sure of a good berth, secure it in time.

The "Friend" for May is out. Missionary matter by the Morning Star constitutes the main feature of this issue.

OUR SUMMARY is ready, and may be had at Hewitt's, Soper's, or the BULLETIN office. Just in time for the Alameda.

The steamer W. G. Hall went on the Marine Railway this morning. The Bishop sails in her stead this afternoon.

ON exhibition at the office of Mr. M. D. Monsarrat, is a fine wall map, just completed by that gentleman, of Hilea Sugar Plantation.

THE arrests by the police up to noon to-day were: four Chinamen charged with gambling, one for perjury, and G. Borofsky and a Chinaman for having opium in possession.

PROF. POMEROY of San Jose, Cal., said to be the finest organist of the Pacific Coast, came here with his wife by the S. S. Australia last Tuesday, and is stopping at the Dudoit House.

A PARTY will be given at the residence of Mr. Hamilton Johnson, Waikiki, next Monday evening, in honor of Miss Madden, Miss Dunlap, and Mr. Low and son, who will depart by the Australia, Tuesday.

WE would call the attention of shippers to the advertisement of the ship "Thos. Bell," now about to load for San Francisco. She is a fine iron vessel, and noted for delivering her cargoes in the brightest condition.

At the regular weekly meeting of the Debating Club, last night, two new members were elected, and Mr. E. G. Schuman was elected first vice-president. "Woman Suffrage" was the subject of debate, and was entered into with spirit.

THE leap year couple of Lunailo Home mentioned in the BULLETIN during the engagement boom, she 80 and he 35, stone blind and deaf, were united in marriage a week or so ago, by the Rev. H. H. Parker. They are as spoony as turtle doves.

A NUMBER of the sailors and marines of the U. S. S. Adams, who are on the black list, and not allowed liberty on account of bad behavior, were jubilant last evening over the prospects of being restored to the liberty list, when the new Captain takes charge of the vessel to-day.

In consequence of the projected departure of Rev. A. O. Forbes for Colorado to recruit his health, the Hawaiian Board has engaged Mr. A. L. Smith to attend to the Book Department, and Rev. J. Bicknell to attend to the other duties of the office of Corresponding Secretary of the Hawaiian Board.

ONE of the new perils of navigation among the Line Islands, as reported by Capt. Garland, of the Morning Star, is large masses of earth and stone floating on the surface buoyed up by the trunks of trees beneath them. They are supposed to have been thrown out by the eruption of Krakatoa on the island of Java some months ago.

Horse race at Kapiolani Park, at 4:30 p. m.

FIRE ALARM.

An alarm of fire was sounded from the Bell Tower shortly after nine o'clock this morning, and the fire companies were directed to Kakaako Branch Hospital. Arriving at the place, it was ascertained that rubbish from trees growing on the hospital grounds was being burned, and that some one had blundered. Pacific Hose cart attached to a lumber team was the first and only fire apparatus on the spot, but was not needed. The alarm was sounded because John Kekukahiko reported to the Bell Telephone Central that there was a fire at Kakaako.

HONOLULU FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The regular monthly meeting of the Honolulu Fire Department was held last night in the Bell Tower, First Assistant Engineer Frank Hustace, presiding.

A motion to have the election of Engineers take place on the first Monday in June, at Engine House of No. 2, carried.

Mr. Henry Smith was appointed Judge of Election, and delegates Kaia and Lau, tellers. Other routine business was despatched, after which the meeting adjourned.

MARSHALL ISLANDS.

The German authorities in the Marshall Islands have made it a rule that the church members shall not take up contributions for church purposes beyond a reasonable amount. All such collections are to be reported promptly, with amounts, dates, and items of collections, to the Commissioner. Another rule is that the natives shall not contract any debts. Any trader getting natives into debt is liable to a fine of one hundred dollars.

A YOUNG STOWAWAY.

A son of Captain Jackson (Nigel), stowed away on the S. S. Australia, and has come to Honolulu to see the "boys." The youngster ran away from here on the S. S. Alameda about two years ago, but was brought back by Captain Morse. Since leaving here with his parents, he has been a newsboy in San Francisco, but feeling a desire to visit the Islands again, he stowed away and is now here.

RELIEF FOR FATHER DAMIEN.

Portland, April 13.—Rev. Father L. L. Conrardy has been relieved as Indian missionary at Umatilla Reservation, and having received permission from Archbishop Gross, will leave on Sunday to go to the relief of Father Damien, apostle of the lepers' island of Molokai, Sandwich Islands. Father Damien has contracted leprosy, and writes that the disease has settled on his hands, and soon there will be no one to break the bread of life to the poor creatures under his charge. Father Conrardy is a countryman of Father Damien, a Belgian. He was for several years in the missions of Pondicherry, India, when his health failed, and being advised to seek a temperate climate he chose to cast his lot among the Indians of Oregon. He was offered a fine parish in the Argentine Republic, but it did not fill his ideal of self-sacrifice. In order to hasten to the relief of Father Damien, Father Conrardy gives up the farewell visit he contemplated paying to his family in Europe.—[S. F. Bulletin.]

Johnny—Pa, what is a female crank? Father—Go ask your mother or my son. (Father is busy explaining the next moment that he meant no reflections.)

A PLEASANT PARTY.

A party was given at the residence of Capt. J. H. Brown, in honor of the return of his daughter, Miss Nellie, from abroad by the Australia last Tuesday.

Among those present were Mr. Washington Irving Bishop, Captain Leary, Captain Houdlett, Mrs. and Miss Turtan, Purser Bedolfe, Mr. and Mrs. H. Gunn, Miss Belle Weight, Mr. W. C. King, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Aldrich and others.

Mr. Bishop gave two exhibitions of his remarkable skill in mind reading. He was thoroughly blind-folded, and taking the hand of a lady led her, avoiding chairs and other obstructions, to any object in the room she might think about. After that he left the room while one of the guests wrote the names of her living and one dead person, on slips of paper. The slips were put into an envelope and sealed. Mr. Bishop enters the parlor and writes the name of the dead person in exact imitation of the enclosed slip.

MORE TEACHERS.

The steamer "Australia" this week, brought Mr. and Mrs. H. Z. Austin, both teachers of experience, under engagement with the Board of Education, for public school service in this country. They have been assigned, for the present, to the Government day school at Wahee on Maui. Mr. Austin is a graduate of Amherst College U. S. A.

ANOTHER CATCH.

Mr. Geo. Markham collared another man on the Australia, with opium in his possession, this morning. The man had a tin strapped to each leg inside of his trousers when caught. This makes 165 tins of opium found so far this week.

POLICE COURT.

THE WIDOW AND HER SISTER.

The following is from the San Francisco "Daily Examiner" of April 10, 1888:—

In a recent trip from the Sandwich Islands the bark C. D. Bryant brought among her passengers Miss Alice Caldwell, who hailed from Honolulu.

That was the name on her ticket and the same that appeared on the passenger list which was left at the Merchant's Exchange.

The lady was pretty, vivacious and attractive, contributing largely to the enjoyment of the whole ship's company. Captain Lee was glad to have such a passenger to enliven the spirits of those on board, many of whom had known her during her residence in Kalakaua's domain.

They were greatly surprised, however, that she called herself Miss Caldwell when she had been known by them before as Miss Alice Waite. As soon as the vessel dropped anchor in the stream, and long before docking, she landed and was lost from public view in the midst of the city, where she remained until a few days ago, and then took her leave for Sacramento, where she now is.

Miss Caldwell was none other than the sister of Miss Howard St. Clair, who recovered judgment for $10,000 in a breach-of-promise suit that she brought against Prime Minister Gibson of the Sandwich Islands. In that cause Miss Caldwell or Waite played a prominent part and aided her sister much by her influence and exertions.

The history of the two sisters in this city was quite eventful and came to the knowledge of the "Examiner" through an ordinary small advertisement. At the time—last September—the man for whom they were working declared that the women he employed were upright in every way and were engaged in an honorable occupation. This man was one W. Sanford Ramey, who had come from the East and presumably brought out these two girls. He had with him a book which they sold by subscription. It was entitled "Kings of the Battlefield," and Ramey's name was on the title page as the author. There appeared an advertisement in the "Examiner" and other papers during the month named for half a dozen handsome young ladies to go to Los Angeles. Directions were given to address a certain post office box, and if the applicant received an answer it directed her to call at No. 15 Eleventh street.

Seeing such an opening for a good-looking young lady of genius, Miss Dolly Chisholm, the talented equestrienne and subsequent flame of the notorious Billy Boyd of Chinese certificate fame, indited a letter to the stated address. She got an answer and when she applied at No. 15 Eleventh street she was spotted by an officer appointed for the purpose and shadowed to her home on Post street. The authorities had read the advertisement and determined to prevent the contingency of any decent girls being run off for improper purposes by a designing advertiser. After locating her the officer called upon an "Examiner" reporter and invited him to accompany him to the residence of the young lady.

The invitation was accepted, and Miss Dolly was aroused from her slumbers. She greeted her visitors in a rich wrapper.

"Have you engaged to go to Los Angeles with the man who placed this advertisement in the papers?" was asked by the reporter as the scrap of paper was passed to her.

"Oh, Mr. Ramey is his name. Yes, I have—well, I told him I would let him know," was the reply.

"What business does he say that you will be employed at?"

"He didn't say. He said that he wanted us to go to New Orleans by the way of Los Angeles. He said that he had two very smart girls already, who were making money here in the city."

"What are their names?"

"They came with him from the East. One is Miss Howard, a tall blonde, and the other is Miss Young, I believe, her sister."

"Did he not tell you what they were doing?"

"No, but he said I was to be treated as they were, if I suited, and he felt sure I would. He said that he travelled with his wife in a special train, together with the girls. They made periodical stops in large cities. I was to sign a long agreement, in which it was exacted that I should have nothing to do with men during the term of my contract."

"Does he say that he has a special train here?"

"Yes, and that it is down at Fourth and Townsend streets. He will start the day after to-morrow."

"And you are going with him?"

"Well, he appeared to be a very nice young man, but since the officers evidently suspect him, I will think over the matter again."

The railroad authorities were visited the next day and knew nothing of any special train whatever. This looked as though Mr. Ramey was a fraud.

The gentleman himself was next called upon, and when the reporter informed him of his mission he became uneasy. He stated that he was a gentleman and a graduate of an Illinois college. He had compiled a book entitled "Kings of the Battlefield," which he wished these young ladies to sell. Miss Howard, he said was doing brilliantly with the work. He had no one else working for him at present, as Miss Young was not then engaged.

A tour around town showed that the stately blonde, Miss Howard, had sold about four hundred of the books at the railroad offices at Fourth and Townsend streets alone, and about a hundred in the New City Hall and a couple of thousand more in the city. She sold this trashy literature all the way from 75 cents to $2.50 per volume. At every place she told the same story, which was in effect that she had a remarkable voice and was only selling the book to obtain money enough to complete her musical education.

The story melted sheriff McMann's heart and he gave her $2.50 for a book.

Ramey cleared out with his wife in three days after this investigation began and has not been heard of since. The next known of the book peddler she was in Honolulu, suing Prime Minister Gibson under the name of Howard St. Clair. Miss Young was not known until the Bryant came in, when it was alleged by those who professed to know that the woman, Miss Waite, who claimed to be the sister of Miss Howard St. Clair, was no other than Miss Alice Young, alias Waite, alias Caldwell.

Her occupation in Sacramento is not known.

Miss Howard went to Japan after getting her $10,000.

One of the episodes connected with Miss St. Clair's experience in this city was when she did the act of whaling a New City Hall clerk under the impression that he was the newspaper man who had turned off a pleasant little squib concerning her a couple of days before. An evening paper had written up the young lady and described her minutely, also giving the address of the squib. At the New City Hall she was directed to the wrong person as the author of the article, and with her parasol she took satisfaction out of him. The young man did not know what he had been thrashed for for several days.
